THE NOMINEES FOR THE EXCISE BOARD. THE MAYOR NOT TO WITHDRAW HIS NOMINATIONS-MR. MITCHELL'S COMPLAINT AGAINST TWO

There is not much probability that the Board of Midlernen will confirm to-day the nominations of William P. Mitchell, Charles Welde and William H. Philips for Excise Commissioners. The hitch comes on the nomination of Welde. The Tammany leaders are not willing to allow him to be confirmed, because he was not the choice of the organization. On the other hand, the Mayor will not nominate ex-Coroner Richard Croker, who was the choice of Tammany Hall. It is possible that the matter may be compromised by the withdrawal of Welde and the naming of a new man.

on the other hand, the superior of Tammany Hall. It is possible that the matter may be compromised by the withdrawal of Weide and the naming of a new man.

A number of politicians, including several Aldermen and Commissioner Thompson, called on the Mayor yesterday in regard to the Excise nominations. The Mayor said that he would not withdraw the names now before the Board. They were sent to the Board, he said, under the "City Consolidation Act" that went into effect on April 1. It requires the Mayor to nominate three Commissioners of Excise on the first Monday in April, and the Aldermen to confirm or reject them. "I have done my duty," continued Mr. Edson, "but I don't know whether or not the Aldermen have done their duty, Whether they should not have acted on those nominations on the first Monday in April is just as much a question under the law, as whether I should not have made out the nominations differently. I believe I am right. The Aldermen must judge for themselves, If one nominee is confirmed he will supersede all three members of the present Excise Board after May I, until two other appointments are made. The report that I promised to nominate ex-Alderman Hall is antrue."

At 3 o'clock in the worning of March 29, Excise Commissioner Mitchell called at the Fifteenth Precinct Police Station, and complained that Joseph Mezzecape and Salvator Domico, keepers of a liquor shop at No. 48 Great Jones-st., had just violated the law by selling him a glass of whiskey. The sergeaut in charge sent two officers to arrest the two men, and Commissioner Mitchell wated until they were brought to the station, when he made complaints against them. Captain Brogan said yesterday that Mr. Mitchell promised to appear at the Police Court in the morning. He did not do so, and Justice Duffy discharged the two prisoners.

Commissioner Mitchell said that he had heard the the two men was were arrested had been violated the two prisoners.

He did not do so, and Justice Daily discharged two prisoners.

Commissioner Mitchell said that he had heard that the two men who were arrested had been violating the law, and he went to their place to see for himself. He bought a glass of whiskey and then made complaint. He did not go to the Police Court as complainant, because he thought that the police had evidence enough. The officer who made the arrest could have furnished the evidence to convict the two men. Mr. Mitchell said that he would have to sit as a judge in revoking the license of the men who had been arrested, consequently he did not think that he should appear in public as complainant.

DISPOSING OF 37 EXCISE CASES.

Recorder Smyth sat yesterday in Part II of the Court of General Sessions to hear excise cases, of which thirly-seven had been placed on his calendar for the day. He announced several weeks ago that he would begin the hearing of these cases on the second Monday in April. He had seen a published statement of an employe of the Instrict-Artorney's office to the effect that the reason that there were no trials in these cases was that the Court would not hear them. To refute that statement, the Recorder set a particular time for their trial. All but three of those who were arraigned for violation of the excise laws pleaded guilty. All of those who pleaded not guilty and were tried by juries were acquitted by a failure to prove the exposing of liquor for sale on Sunday, as was charged. As each of those who pleaded guilty was called to the bar he was sworn and a-ked whether he had been previously arrested on a similar charge. The Chief Clerk of the Excise Commission is produced the books of the Board and told the Recorder in each case whether it appeared that a neense had been granted.

Twenty-four of the detendants said that they had never before been arrested on similar charges and were released on the payment of fines of from $10 to $30. The total amount of fines paid was $285. Lewis Isaaes, Michael Murtha and Joseph Morris, who were bar-keepers at McGlory's place in Hesterst, were each sentenced to thirty days in the City Prison and a fine of $25. Henry Schwartz, of No. 75 James-st., and Francis Campbell, of No. 2 Catharine-st., who had previously offended, were sentenced to thirty days' imprisonment. Clerk Donnelly has placed thirty-live cases on the calendar for to-day, forty-eight for Wednesday, forty-two for Thursday and thirty-eight for Friday. These, with the cases already disposed of, will make 200 in all. There are other cases more than a year old in which it is thought it will be impossible to find the witnesses. There are also many cases in which indictiments are yet to be f DISPOSING OF 37 EXCISE CASES.

Z. K. Pangborn, editor of The Evening Journal, was arrested yesterday on a charge of crimman hoel preferred by Kirken Washburn, a Philadelpnia bookseller. The alleged libel appeared in Saturday's issue of The Journal, and consists of an article stating that Washburn and another bookseller named Little were endeavoring to extort money from certain booksellers in New-York to use against Dr. Morris, the Republican candidate for School Director in the VIth District of New-Jersey. Mr. Pangborn was required to turnish bonds to await the action of the Grand Jury.

Henry Lembeck, the Democratic and Citizens' candidate for member of the Board of Public Works in the Vith District, went before Justice Aldridge yesterday, and caused a warrant to be issued for the arrest of Homer Brooke, whom he charged with criminal libel. Mr. Lembeck alleges that Brooke had distributed a circular throughout the district charging that, while a member of the Board of Public Works ten years ago, he (Lembeck) had Columbia-place, his private street, improved at the public expense.

RATES FOR PRODUCE BROKERS.

A few days ago the Grain Trade of the Produce Exchange adopted a report of a special committee, providing for the establishment of minimum rates of commissions and brokerages in dealings. The Committee on Grain then refused to approve the report, when it was sent to the Board of Managers for action. Anonymous circulars were then printed and a boy was employed to distribute them lass Saturday. The circular was in the form of a protest, which declared that the proposed rules were uncalled for; that they would tend to divert trade; work injustice to the small dealers, an i would be evaded. The circulars had hardly dried from the cress before a member gave the boy a dollar, took the entire lot and said he would see that they were distributed. The circulars had hardly dried from the tress before a member gave the boy a doilar, took the entire lot and said be would see that they were distributed. They have since been sold as waste paper, and t. e person who spent several hours in preparing the form made no charge against the briber or bribee, as be did not wish to be publicly known. Finally the Board of Managers disapproved of the proposed rules vesterday.

OBJECTIONABLE LEGISLATIVE BILLS.

The heads of departments of the City Government met yesterday with the Mayor to discuss legislation at Albany concerning the city. The funeral of Peter Cooper on Saturday prevented the usual weekly meeting on that day. Senate bill No. 313, to sef apert certain piers on the North and East rivers for public uses, was declared to be objectionable, for the reason that it involved rights now in existence, and that this power was aircady vested in the city authorities. Assembly bill No. 726 was objectionable as it was worded in so ambiguous a manner as to render it impossible to ascertain what its effect would be. The bill to legalize he construction of a bulkhead and pier at the Battery was lavored, as was also too bill providing for the construction of four new floating baths in this city. PILOT-BOATS CHARGED WITH DISREGARDING SIGNALS OF DISTRESS.

The brig Mary Gibbs, which sailed from Sagna for Boston on March 15, reached this port yesterday in tow of pilot-boat Edmund Blunt. Captain Moore's tale of disaster and determination cannot be made effective in print, but briefly is as follows:

"We sailed from Sagua on March 15, and on the 20th. off Cape Hatteras, we were caught in a violent revolving gaie and a heavy cross-sea. On the following day, soon after noon a sort of tidal wave struck us square on our bow, carrying away the bob stays head rail and jib-boom. The vessel then fell off and in an instant the foretopmast went by the board, close to the foremast head, carrying with it the mainmast, which broke off, leaving a stump only five feet from the deck. The mainmast then drifting around under the stern, it started the rudder from the stock and to prevent more serious disaster we were obliged to cut everything adrift. It was two hours before we cleared the vessel of the wrockage, and then we put her before the wind.

"The next day a Portuguese bark spoke us, and seeing that we were at the mercy of the seas offered to take us off, but as the vessel was not leaking the offer was declined. On the 3d we managed to set a jury-mast and rig a small sail upon it, hoping to work into Delaware Breakwater. The next day we experienced another terrific gale and we were obliged to send for twelve hours. On the same day we were spoken by the brig Plymouth and steamship Washington, both of which offered assistance, which we declined, as the vessel was under good command. The Washington supplied us with provisions, Day after day passed with nothing of importance to note until on Saturday, when, about twenty-five miles northeast of Barnegat, we sighted pilot-boats Nos. 3 and 6. The wind was blowing fresh from the northeast and there was a thick mist. We had our jack and ensugh, union down, flying, and as soon as these could be distinguished the pilot-boat Edmand Blunt came to our assistance, and having supplied SIGNALS OF DISTRESS.

RECOVERING BONDS WORTH $28,000.

The conds and stocks stolen from the office of E. B. Treat, a publisher at No. 757 Broadway, on March 31, were in the possession of Inspector Byrnes at Police Headquarters yesterday, and the thief who stole them was impresented in one of the strong rooms. Mr. Treat identified his property in the atternoon and said that the original cost of the stolen securities was about $35,000, but could not be sold at present for more than $28,000. They include fifty shares of the New-York Central Railroad, if ity shares of the Metropolitan Elevated Railway, and more than 100 shares of Ohio Central.

Mr. Treat was out of town when the robbery was committed. His manager, M. L. Roddy, told the police that the thief entered the office and represented himself to be a book canvasser. From the description farmished Inspector Byrnes suspected an ex-convict known as "the Doctor," who had been noticed loitering about Broadway stores. Detective-Sergeants Adams and O'Connor learned where "the Doctor' was staying and shadowed him. It was soon ascertained that he was associating with a go-between for theeves, and that aftempt were being made to self some of the stolen securities. "The Doctor' was arrested on Saturday afternoon, therefore, and with the consent of a police justice he has been kept a prisoner at Police Headquarters ever since.

he has been kept a prisoner at Police Headquartets ever since.

He gave his name as David C. Bliss, but this is considered fictitions. The police think that he was at one time a Government officer in the South, where he was born, and that he was once haprisoned for a felony in that part of the country. In 1850 he was arrested in this city for a robbery committed in Boston, and sentenced for two years. Since he regained his Uberty he has been staying in this city. The man who was trying to help him sell the stolen bonds has not been arrested, and it was partly by his assistance that the property was recovered yesterday morning.

THE ACTINIC TEST FOR IMPURE WAFER

THE ACTINIC TEST FOR IMPURE WATER

Dr. Albert R. Leeds read a paper at the Academy of Sciences last evening on "An Actinic Method for the Determination of Organic Matter in Potable Water." Dr. Leeds was called last January to examine the water in the Schnylkill River, which had become very offensive. By a series of experiments he decided upon an actinia method as the surest and most accurate test for detecting the nitrogenous organic matters, which are the most noxious infirmities in drinking water.

most accurate test for detecting the introjenous organic matters, which are the most noxious infirmities in drinking water.

After an outline of other tests, Dr. Leeds explained the action method to be one based upon the action of light upon the saits of silver, when in combination with organic impurities, either animal or vegetable. After a small quantity of the nitrate of silver has been added to any specimen of water not absolutely pure, discoloration of the water takes place in a day or two, and a precipitate of the saits of silver, combined with the organic matter, appears as a sediment. By complicated and delicate manipulation, the actual quantity of organic impurities is ascertained, but the comparative discoloration of two specimens, will give, roughly, the relative purity of any two waters under examination. The Croton water, by this test, was much lighter in color than that of the Passaic.

M. THIERS AS A DUELLIST.

We suspect that it will be news to most renders that even the solid and soher Thiers once yielded to the tempitation which lies in wait for every French publicial and statesman, and fought a duel. The story is little known, but its narrator in the columns of La France guarantees its truth. When he was twenty years old, and studying at Aix, he was hospitably received by a local family of some competence, and fell in love with the daughter of the house. He made her an ofter of marriage and was accepted, and though his means were not so large as the father thought such a girl as his might fitly claim, the young student was at last adopted as his sou-in-law. The marriage was octaved, however, until M. Thiers could show that he was capable of securing an independent position by his own exertions. The future mistorian of the Consulate and Empire betook himself to Paris, in order to attempt to solve the fearuil problem of success or faiture in public life. The severity of the struggle cooled his passion for the beautiful Southerner. At first he wrote to her frequently, next at intervals; finally, not at all. The father of the maiden became indignant, and wrote to the ambitious young man reminding him of his betrothal. Thiers made no reply. The young lady of Provence had become of no importance to him, and he was quite content that she should take another man for her husband. The father, however, was not exitisfied will the sleene of his daughter's betrothed, and journeyed to Paris in order to see whether he was still alive, and, if he was any energy to bring him to a reckoning. One fine day, having discovered the loading of the young Thers, the hotheaded man of the South presence himself to the faithless lover, and base him choose between two alternatives—his daughter or a pair of pistois. There was no fighter, but no thought it better to "spend five minutes with a weapon which he did not understand than to spend a life with a woman whom he understand than to spend a life with a woman whom he and the minutes with a we

DIRECT SHIPMENTS TO SCOTLAND.

Washington, April 9.—L. C. Porter, of Winona, Minn., has made contracts with John Jackson & Co. to supply them with wheat at Leith and Glasgow, and the grain to fill the first order is now in transit. The wheat is sent directly from the farms in Dakota by Mr. Porter, and shipped directly and without contact with other wheat through to Glasgow, thus giving the buyer the certainty of securing a specific and uniform grade of hard spring wheat without admixture with other wheat. This is probably the first instance in which the delivery of grain has been made so directly from the farmer in Dakota to the cousumers in Europe.
